LIFTS

During the cable car ride to Seceda the panorama becomes more and more spectacular: along Val d'Anna, above Ortisei, there is the archaeological Col de Flam, followed by the interesting geological formations of the Balest, Seura Sass and Seceda.

At the top station of the cable car you can enjoy a marvellous view of almost the entire South Tyrol as well as of the mountains in Trentino, Lombardy and Austria. Last but not least, you can admire the breathtaking peaks of the nearby Dolomites, of course: from the Tofane, the Sciliar and the Sella Massif to the Sassolungo and the "pearl" of the Dolomites, the "Marmolada".

INSTAGRAM HOTSPOT

In 2017 during the Apple event, the "Apples World Wide Developer Conference" held in San Jose in the United States, where new technological products are presented, viewers could see several photos of Val Gardena and the Dolomites. The photos illustrate suggestive and panoramic views of the Seceda and the Odle, one of which was used as a backdrop during the presentation of the new iMac.

The presentation was followed by the millions of fans via live streaming, from that moment the evocative photo of the Odle went around the world and thousands of people come every year to photograph the magnificent panorama of the Odle seen from the top of Seceda. But not only Apple has discovered the beauty of the Dolomites in Val Gardena. Other companies of international importance have recently made use of images taken in Val Gardena and in particular of the Odle seen by Seceda. Sony has used several of these photos during the presentation of a new 4K-Oled TV model.
